ABOUT THE NABG

The National Agricultural Bioinformatics Grid (NABG) has been initiated with funding from NAIP for a period of two years (2010-12) for development of agricultural bioinformatics grid for the country. The Project is being implemented at five domain centers located at NBPGR, New Delhi, NBAIL, Bangalore, NBAGR, Karnal, NBAIM, Mau and NBFGR, Lucknow. The major objectives of NABG include- Provision of High Computational infrastructure to a Network of Institutions, creation of local databases and Bioinformatics Data Warehouse (BinDW) for genomic resources across species, and facilitation of Bioinformatics analysis & functional annotation of genomic data to discover new genes and Human resource development in agricultural bioinformatics.

TRAINING OBJECTIVES

The workshop aims to equip participants with basic understanding & skills in use of Bioinformatics tools, biological databases and algorithms in analysis of Biotechnology data. The workshop curriculum includes both theoretical lectures by domain experts and daily lab sessions to equip participants with hands on experience skills in use of Bioinformatics tools.

TOTAL NUMBER OF PARTICIPANTS: 25 ONLY
